

Our Unexpected Child

Raising and Educating a Genius: The Child We Couldn't Talk About to Other People.

In the late 70's we had our first child. When he was 2 days old, he lifted his head and moved it slowly from one side to the other, following the sound of a jet going overhead. He played his first joke on me at 9 months and laughed and laughed. At 3yrs he could sing a harmony with music on the first hearing. At 6 he read Lord of the Rings.

Geniuses are born that way; usually the first child, with non-genius parents. This is one of the most disadvantaged types of children in our schools and in our society.

There are no teachers, no resources, no curriculum, no peers - for the child or the parents.
